

what is planned giving?

What Does It Mean to Craft a Legacy?

A planned gift is a future donation arranged through your estate or financial plan. It's an opportunity to align your values with your legacy—and possibly gain tax advantages for you and your loved ones.

Types of planned gifts include:*

- Bequests in wills or trusts
- Retirement account designations
- Life insurance gifts
- Charitable trusts
- Real estate or stock donation

We recommend speaking with your financial or legal advisor to find the best giving option for you.*

why planned giving?

*You've Shaped Our Past.
Now Help Craft Our Future*

The 1979 Society recognizes a visionary group of supporters who have chosen to shape the future of the Metal Museum through planned giving. Named in honor of our founding year, this society celebrates those whose generosity ensures our mission—and their legacy—lives on for generations.

By including the Metal Museum in your estate plans, you make more than a gift—you make a statement. You affirm the value of creativity, craftsmanship, and community. Your thoughtful contribution becomes a lasting force.

why craft a legacy?

- Leave a lasting mark on a cause you care about
- Potential tax savings for you and your heirs
- Flexible and customizable options
- Recognition in The 1979 Society
- Help ensure the long-term sustainability of the Metal Museum

how to craft your legacy

It's Simple to Get Started

Your planned gift can support any area of the Metal Museum—from education and exhibitions to conservation and general operations. You may also give to an existing endowment or explore creating one tailored to your vision.
